School makes a record recovery

by Dick Townsend-Smith

PARENTS, teachers and pupils at a Woolwich primary school are celebrating after an astonishing turnaround in its results.

Less than 18 months ago Foxfield Primary in Sandbach Place was failing badly. Inspectors from the education watchdog Ofsted said it needed 'special measures' to put back on track. But following a big drive by staff and governors to make improvements, and with extra support from the council, the school has now been re-inspected. And this time, Ofsted has graded Foxfield as 'outstanding' in every way.

It scored top marks for the quality of teaching and the impact this had on the children, and also their personal development, behaviour and welfare. Also judged outstanding were the effectiveness of the school's leadership and management, and the provision for early years.

The school launched an action plan following Ofsted's visit in May 2014. An executive headteacher and new headteacher were brought in, along with key staff and governors from Woodhill Primary in Woolwich, who rose to the challenge to support a local school in need.

Said Ofsted: "The headteacher and executive headteacher have turned the school around very quickly. It is now a highly-successful school where pupils make and sustain rapid progress. They have achieved this through setting ambitious targets and insisting that the pupils achieve very well, regardless of their circumstances. Teaching is highly effective, and teachers know that only the best is good enough.

"The governing body is formidable. They know the strengths and relative weaknesses of the school, and do not allow it to slide."

Executive Headteacher Rob Carpenter said: "The new Ofsted report reflects the commitment and dedication of the staff and the governors, together with the strong support received from the council. Above all, it reflects the confidence of our pupils, and their ambitions for both themselves and their local community."

Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "I congratulate the teachers and the children for these wonderful improvements. Thanks are also due to Woodhill for supporting this turnaround. It shows the difference that can be made when a local council gives its full support to its schools."

Foxfield's achievement means that more than 94 per cent of the borough's primaries are now rated as 'good' or 'outstanding', its highest-ever figure. This puts Royal Greenwich's primary schools in the top 10 of all primary schools in the country.

Group brings children and parents together

A fund-raising drive is under way for an Abbey Wood-based charity that gives children and parents who live apart the chance to spend safe and relaxed time together.

The charity, called Neutral Ground, needs funds to continue to run its centre, which has toys and games and both inside and outdoor areas. It is staffed mainly by volunteers, and is used by families from all over the borough.

Liz Cutajar, the co-ordinator, said: "The centre is for parents who don't live with their children, and children who live with one of their parents. It's designed to help adults maintain contact with their children. We have more than a hundred children coming here each year. They are from under a year to aged 15, but we let any age come, plus grandparents who want to come to the centre to visit a grandchild. We are all volunteers who give up their time, and we would welcome more volunteers. We do not charge for our services and we welcome enquiries from any family who feels they may need us. Donations will make a huge amount of difference for us. We have no other funding, we have to raise it all ourselves."

Neutral Ground is taking part in the Grow Your Own campaign being run by the online fundraising site Localgiving. Donations will be matched pound-for-pound up to £10, and monthly donations up to £10 per month for three months. Cllr Denise Hyland, the leader of the council and Abbey Wood ward councillor, said: "This campaign will really make a difference and we hope local people will support it. Charities like Neutral Ground are a vital resource and provide much-needed support for families who may need help to build and maintain family bonds."

● Donations can be made from November 13 to 18. Go to www.localgiving.com and search 'Neutral Ground'

New scheme to benefit local communities

ALL ward councillors in the borough are being given the authority on how best to spend a special one-off budget of £30,000 per ward to improve their local communities so that everyone benefits.

These could include things like updating community facilities, renovating a community landmark, organising a coach outing for older people, providing new toys for a playground, or supporting a community event such as a fete. The new scheme was agreed by the council's cabinet at their meeting on Wednesday October 21.

Cllr Denise Hyland, the leader of the council, said: "The scheme is designed to be as flexible as possible, with ward councillors choosing schemes that will help to enhance their community and promote civic pride. It is not designed to benefit an individual or a small group of people, but instead is aimed at the wider community or community organisations."

Streets ahead

Mobile app helps residents report problems

RESIDENTS now have a new option of reporting street level problems to the council with the launch of a new, mobile friendly website.

Greenwich Fix My Street, is one of a number of ways residents can contact the council about local issues. It allows local people to report a wide range of problems affecting local streets – from fly-tipping and broken paving slabs, to street lighting and potholes – direct from their mobile phones.

Part of a national service, Fix My Street is a fast and efficient way for residents to report road, street and cleaning problems as when they encounter them. The website is designed specifically to support use from mobile devices as well as computers. Once an issue is reported, the relevant department in the council will be notified and will be able to deal with it swiftly, prioritising potential safety issues first and foremost.

The system allows residents to keep track of the issues they have reported using an interactive map of the borough. Already, local people are making good use of Greenwich's Fix My Street website, with 29 reports logged in a single week and 83 altogether during October.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment said: "Our new Fix My Street service is an excellent way for residents to report problems on our streets quickly and efficiently, and to keep track of how we are doing in response to their concerns.

"The website is easy to use and mobile-friendly, so residents can report problems as soon as they see them and upload a picture to illustrate the issue. The council is committed to ensuring that local streets are clean and safe wherever possible and we are always keen to look at new ways of engaging with residents."

"The royal borough pays a heavy price for the irresponsible actions of those who dump rubbish. Last year, 14,503 fly-tips were removed from local streets and open spaces by the council. This added up to 730 tonnes of waste, which costs roughly £210,000 to collect and dispose of. We appreciate the quick thinking of residents in reporting dumped rubbish and help keep our local community free from unsightly fly-tips."

"The council provides a range of services to help residents dispose of large waste items so there is absolutely no excuse for fly-tipping."

You can report issues and get more information about the online service at greenwich.fixmystreet.com

● Residents and local businesses can also access many council services 24/7 online. From applying for planning permission to renewing parking permits, setting up council tax direct debits, to finding your local councillor – it's all at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

A voice for leaseholders

THE GREENWICH Right to Buy Leaseholders Association (Greenwich RTBLA) is holding its Annual General Meeting on Saturday November 14. Right to Buy leaseholders in the royal borough who pay their service charges to the council are invited to attend and see for themselves the work the organisation does.

Greenwich RTBLA was formed by a group of leaseholders in 2014 and is fully independent. It works to promote community engagement and give individual leaseholders a more powerful say when dealing with the council. Through working with local people and the council, the Greenwich RTBLA works towards an improved service and better value for money for leaseholders. Greenwich RTBLA currently has over 60 members, with this number rising steadily in the wake of excellent responses from leaseholders within the borough.

The AGM takes place at 2.30pm on November 14 in Woolwich Town Hall (Public Hall), Wellington Street, Woolwich, SE18 6PW.

● For further information on Greenwich RTBLA visit www.greenwichrtbla.wordpress.com or email GreenwichRTBLA@hotmail.com. Regular meetings are held on the second Tuesday of every month

We were judged on our early stage.

All our lawyers are experienced and each client is given a named lawyer to act on their behalf throughout their transaction. We identify and tackle issues as soon as they arise rather than at the last minute, avoiding frustration. We spend approximately six hours on a a leasehold matter. There are very few firms who provide such a quality conveyancing and property service.

We draft all types of legal documents and find we are the ones preparing documents to remedy legal issues because other firms do not have the expertise.

We offer clients purchasing a

Benefits fraudster to repay £37,000

A 45 year-old quantity surveyor from Woolwich has been given a suspended jail sentence and will have to pay almost £40,000 back to the royal borough after falsely claiming housing benefit from the council.

This latest successful prosecution follows on the heels of three other successful cases in recent weeks that will see almost £25,000 paid back to the borough by four individuals.

Darren Worsley was given an 18 month suspended prison sentence at Woolwich Crown Court last month (Oct 19) for having falsely claimed over £37,000 in housing benefit. The council's internal audit and anti-fraud team discovered that Mr Worsley was receiving benefits by falsely claiming he was a rent-paying tenant at a property in Bloomfield Road, SE18, when in fact he was the owner. Mr Worsley also provided a false tenancy agreement naming a non-existent person as the landlord.

The fraud was identified whilst Mr Worsley was already under investigation for failing to declare his income from his work as a quantity surveyor with another

London borough.
Cllr Maureen O'Mara said: "Thanks to our internal audit and anti-fraud team, Mr Worsley now has to repay all of the money he stole and has a criminal record. The council is committed to prevent and detect fraud and we will prosecute individuals who try to steal from us and deprive others who are in genuine need of financial assistance."

● If you suspect someone

November spark for local businesses

by Simon Banks

BLACKHEATH will light up again to mark Bonfire Night this month - and what better way to stay warm at the autumn event than enjoying a hot meal from one of the local caterers?

As the biggest free fireworks display in London returns to Blackheath on Saturday (November 7) several local caterers from the royal borough of Greenwich will be serving up a wide selection of hot and cold food from several different cuisines at the event including Carib Hut, Salt Beef Bros, Munchies Latin American Food and Made in Greenwich (GCDA).

Carol Schersmith from Plumstead is the manager of mobile Caribbean caterers 'Carib Hut' who will be offering a special cut price deal to customers at the event.

She told GT: "We hope lots of people will enjoy the event while also trying something new from our unique cuisine. Our menu offers an authentic Caribbean flavour, the curry goat dish is one of our specialties, and I hope people try it from our menu and enjoy its unique taste."

The Council's cabinet member for business, employment and skills, Cllr Sizwe James said: "This is a fantastic opportunity for local businesses to take advantage of the crowds of visitors attending the fireworks. I hope they can benefit from this magnificent event that we are proud to welcome back, in partnership with our Lewisham neighbours."

The fireworks display will begin at 8pm, with a funfair and food and drink on sale from 5pm. Residents are advised to take public transport to the event as there will be a number of road closures and limited parking available during the display.

● For more information on road closures and on the event visit www.lewisham.gov.uk/fireworks

Get with the programme

Get a flu jab for cold snap

PUBLIC health chiefs are urging the youngest and the oldest residents to get a flu jab in case we have a real cold snap.

The royal borough is backing a national drive by Public Health England and NHS England to help people stay well over the colder months. It coincides with a national flu vaccination programme for children, which seeks to help over three million 2-6 year olds.

As in previous years, the adult flu vaccine will also be offered free to residents in groups at particular risk of infection and complications from flu. The groups offered the adult flu vaccine include pregnant women, over 65s, under 65s with long-term conditions and carers.

As well as protecting against flu, the NHS Stay Well This Winter campaign will urge people over 65 or those with long-term health conditions, such as diabetes, stroke, heart disease or respiratory illness, to prepare for winter with advice on how to ward off common illnesses. The campaign contains all the help and advice residents need to stay well over the colder months – for further information, visit www.nhs.uk/staywell or speak to your GP.

Clr Denise Scott-McDonald, the council's cabinet member for community wellbeing and public health said: "The council is committed to working with Public Health England and the NHS to help keep vulnerable residents safe, warm and well over the winter months.

"We are supporting the annual vaccination programme and I urge residents that are eligible to speak to their GP or pharmacist to get a flu shot."

Dr Ellen Wright, a local GP and chair of Greenwich clinical commissioning group, said: "If you have children aged two, three or four, or in school years one and two, don't put off taking up their free flu vaccination. The nasal spray vaccination is a quick, painless and effective way for children to be protected without the need for injections. Flu can be a very unpleasant illness in children as they suffer the same symptoms as adults including fever, chills and aching muscles."

New library is right on track

THE council has paved the way for a brand new library in Abbey Wood as part of the ambitious Cross Quarter development - a multi-million pound regeneration project for the local area. The plans, agreed in a cabinet meeting last month, will see an attractive and modern facility created with the potential to attract as many as 100,000 visitors per year.

As part of Cross Quarter, the new library will be located just to the north of Abbey Wood train station. The new building will replace the existing library at Eynsham Drive with services from the current setup being transferred, helping make them more cost effective. This relocation will ensure the new library is conveniently located close to the new Sainsbury's store which opened in July, creating 240 new jobs for local people. A new public square, early years education facility and pedestrian routes have also been planned close by.

The scheme will generate over £125m for the local economy over the next 10 years and, once completed, will create over 500 jobs. In addition, during the construction phase alone, 400 jobs will be created. New homes are also on the horizon as part of Cross Quarter, with 220 residential apartments planned in the future.

The arrival of Crossrail in 2017 will also bolster the regeneration of the area bringing better transport connections and access to job opportunities. Crossrail will allow people to get into central London from Abbey Wood in around 20 minutes.

Cllr Miranda Williams, the royal borough's cabinet member for culture and creative industries said: "The council has built a strong record of investing in its libraries. Since 2008, we have opened centres in Eltham, Woolwich and Greenwich and refurbished Thamesmere Leisure Centre and Library. I am proud that we have seen significant increases in visitors using our libraries as a result.

Our decision to push forward with plans for a new library in Abbey Wood will see better and cost effective facilities delivered for our residents - another hugely positive step in the regeneration of the local area."

Navy remembered at Trafalgar Day

210 YEARS have passed since the Battle of Trafalgar - but those who died in the historical event continued to be remembered by the royal borough of Greenwich at the Trafalgar Day Act of Remembrance on Saturday October 24.

A Salvation Army band played while standard bearers from the Royal Naval Association and the Deptford and Greenwich Sea Cadets paraded at the event on Saturday October 24, at the site of the Trafalgar memorial in East Greenwich Pleasance.

Wreaths were laid by the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, Norman Adams and the deputy Lord Lieutenant and representatives from the Women's Royal Naval Service (WRNS) and other local organisations.

The Revd Margaret Cave, team rector said: "We are delighted that this Act of Remembrance will continue despite the sad death earlier this year of ex naval serviceman Terry Stacey who organised the event for many years."

Wine is the wrong tonic

by Simon Banks

MISLEADINGLY branded tonic wines and bitters imported from Africa found on the shelves of a number of local businesses are coming under scrutiny from the Council's Trading Standards team.

Officers identified a number of premises in the royal borough of Greenwich where African tonic wines and bitters are being sold. As a result the council has issued a warning over the sale of these products which include Magnum Tonic Wine (pictured). These products do not meet guidelines for responsible alcohol promotion.

J Wray & Nephew, which make the product, had not imported it into the UK because it acknowledged it was inappropriate for distribution here, but a third party importer had supplied it to specialist food buyers, including a small number of Tesco stores - that have since withdrawn the product and delisted it.

The Council's cabinet member for community safety and environment and chair of the licensing committee, Cllr Jackie Smith, said: "Our staff will take action to investigate illegal products and remove unsafe products from the shelves for the safety and best interest of our community. The Council is happy to provide advice to any local businesses if there are any doubts over what products are acceptable and which aren't."

The Portman Group is the responsibility body for drinks producers in the UK. Portman chief executive Henry Ashworth said: "We are pleased that Tesco immediately withdrew the product from sale."

● Retailers have been asked not to place orders for either drink in its current form. For more information or to report unlicensed products contact Trading Standards at tradingstandards@royalgreenwich.gov.uk or call 020 8921 8223.

Have your say on health service plans

HEALTH chiefs have announced proposals for changes to South East London's health services - and they want to know what people think about them.

Their suggestions include locating outpatient services closer to where people live, with a new emphasis on promoting better health and wellbeing, and helping people with long-term conditions to manage their illnesses.

Dr Andrew Parson, Chair of the Our Healthier South East London Clinical Executive Group, said: "People clearly want more information on what things could be done to make the changes healthcare in this area needs. Plans are still being developed and we are keen to get the views of as many people as possible."

● More details are at www.ourhealthiersel.nhs.uk, where people can also give their views.

Children are bloomin' marvels

Children at Pound Park Early Years Centre in Charlton were recognised for their outstanding gardening skills by the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, Cllr Norman Adams, at the borough's annual Greenwich in Bloom Awards last month. The children worked really hard on their gardening project and entered in the windows and hanging baskets category of this year's Greenwich in Bloom. Judges were so impressed with the standard that they wanted to honour the entry alongside the eventual winners of the competition and encourage the pupils to do even more gardening in the future. The Mayor presented a certificate to pupils at the ceremony and congratulated all involved on their hard work.

Residents are finding peace of mind thanks to two council campaigns aimed at improving the reliability of local traders.

Simon Banks reports...

COUNCIL trading standards teams have been cracking down on dodgy traders and forceful doorstep sellers across the royal borough of Greenwich, as part of a national crime prevention initiative.

Operation Rogue Traders came into full force at the end of September, as the royal borough's Trading Standards team and local neighbourhood police met with local residents and businesses to warn them about dodgy dealers.

Recent cases where the Trading Standards team issued warnings to residents included cold callers touring the area in a white rental van telling residents they had a problem with their roof, and warning that water may flood into their house. Other rogue traders also tried to convince residents that their homes had damp problems after throwing water over residents' front doors or windows.

The Coldharbour and New Eltham area was recently targeted by forceful doorstep dealers and was the first spot to be patrolled by the officers. Although no rogue traders were found on the day, a number of local traders were given advice about their rights and responsibilities when carrying out works in resident's homes.

Officers also made contact with residents who have fallen foul of a doorstep criminal in the past. These consumers were offered follow-up advice to ensure they receive further support when needed. The council also gave residents information on current scams happening in the area in order to help them to be prepared. Similar advice was given at local charity shops and at the Greenwich Pensioners Forum.

This is the 10th anniversary of the campaign; last year saw nearly 400 people arrested, £153,200 worth of property recovered and over 10,000 vehicles inspected.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety, said: "The success of Rogue Traders Week underlines the benefits for residents and businesses of the partnership between our Trading Standards team and the local police. The initiative is here to protect our residents, while sending out a strong message to these criminals that trading of this nature will not be tolerated."

● To report cases of rogue traders or uninvited doorstep callers to Citizens Advice Consumer Service call 03454 04 05 06 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111. You can also contact Trading Standards on 020 8921 8223 or tradingstandards@royalgreenwich.gov.uk

SAFE AND SOUND: Bill McFadyen and other 'trusted traders' offer reassurance for residents

Reliability is the key

BILL McFadyen has been a qualified locksmith for almost 10 years at his own business Lockmaster 1 Ltd, in Kidbrooke. Bill joined the royal borough's What Trader scheme last year, when he was approved as a trusted trader almost a year ago.

Lockmaster 1 Ltd is a trusted supplier of locks, keys and alarm and security systems. They also repair damaged locks, alarms and security systems as well as offering emergency call outs to residential properties in the borough.

"It is a great scheme that helps the community and lets people know we're out there and looking out for the best interests of our customers and our community," said Bill.

"Anything that boosts the reputation of the business is great and I jumped at the chance to register Lockmaster with the council's scheme. It means we can get out to more customers in need and provide reliable and trusted services to those who need them while protecting them from rogue traders who in some cases are simply aren't qualified."

You can trust our traders

Confidence

THERE are plenty of multi-skilled businesses operating in the royal borough that deliver just what it says on the tin. And while rogue traders and 'cowboys' are firmly in the minority, residents can understandably have concerns when it comes to choosing the right trader.

The Royal Borough's What Trader scheme, set up in 2006, is designed to remove the worry for residents. It offers a simple, quick and easy way to find a trusted trader nearby. Customers can simply search the database online that stores the details of traders in the royal borough and in nearby Bexley that have been cleared as trustworthy tradespeople by the Council's Trading Standards team. The search will automatically identify the best option nearby.

The scheme is based on customer feedback and traders can benefit from joining the scheme because it drives up standards by encouraging customers to comment on the quality of the work. The scheme also ## Know your rights!

Consumers are being urged to familiarise themselves with their rights as part of this year's National Consumer Week.

National Consumer Week is running from November 2 to 6 and seeks to raise awareness and promote the use of new consumer rights that were brought into force through Consumer Rights Act legislation on 1 October 2015. The scheme also aims to help consumers to shop with confidence, especially with the busy Christmas period approaching.

The campaign is run by Citizens Advice, the Chartered Trading Standards Institute (CTSI) and the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills. The royal borough of Greenwich is supporting the initiative by helping businesses to understand their responsibilities under the act.

The Act is a major reform of UK consumer law that simplifies eight pieces of legislation into one place making it easier to understand key consumer rights.

The new rights include:

- Consumers' right to demand that poor services are redone or else to receive a price reduction
- A right to be given clear and honest information before they buy
- A right to challenge terms and conditions and small print
- Faulty digital content can be repaired or replaced
- 30 days to return goods and get a full price refund
- Faults to be put right free of charge or a refund or replacement provided.

● Consumer advice is available from the Citizens Advice consumer service on 03454 04 05 06 or online on www.citizensadvice.org.uk. ## Panto is coming to town

LITTLE Red Riding Hood and her friends are coming to Greenwich Theatre for the winter. This year sees the tenth anniversary of the theatre's biggest and longest-running event of the year - its pantomime. 'Red Riding Hood and the Wolf' has been written by, and stars, acclaimed pantomime dame Andrew Pollard. He said: "Panto at Greenwich Theatre really is special. We always sense a real affection from the audience and a real affection for the theatre."

Andrew plays the Granny, and his special relationship with Greenwich audiences shows no sign of waning. He said: "There's a kind of shorthand we all have with the audience. They know the style and are with you straight away. "It's a real team effort, and it pays off because it's become a real tradition here and people love it. Yes, we're in London but the audience is local, as it should be, and that's something to cherish and keep."

Red Riding Hood and the Wolf runs from Friday, November 20, to Sunday, January 10 next year. The box office is on 020 8858 7755. For more information, go to www.greenwichtheatre.org.uk

Hospice names date for carol concert

THE popular Christmas carol concert organised by Greenwich and Bexley Community Hospice will be on Sunday, November 29. And once again, it will take place in the stunning 18th century chapel at the Old Royal Naval College in Greenwich. The event will feature traditional carols and special readings, and a torch-lit procession by the 3rd Greenwich Park Girl Guides. There will also be a pre-concert reception in the Queen Mary Undercroft, with a festive mince pie and drink for every guest.

Sarah O'Halloran, Hospice Community Fundraising Manager, said: "We were delighted that the carol concert sold out in 2014 and helped to raise over £9,000 for our patients and their families. The chapel choir are truly amazing, and bring a really special touch to the concert."

Tickets cost £25 and are available to buy online at www.communityhospice.org.uk or by calling 020 8319 9230, or emailing info@gbch.org.uk

Forgotten voices will be heard again

THE Eltham-based Priory Players are marking the centenary of the Great War with a reading of Forgotten Voices, a moving, first-hand account of the war as told by the stories of five survivors - four men and one woman. Playwright Malcolm McKay has adapted Max Arthur's book Forgotten Voices of the Great War, which was based on oral testimonies of First World War veterans collected by the Sound Archive of the Imperial War Museum. The presentation is part of the Progress Estate's centenary celebrations, and will be held at the Progress Hall in Admiral Seymour Road, Eltham, on Friday (November 6).

Tickets are £7 (£6 for concessions). To book, call 07502 450983 or email tickets@theprioryplayers.com Doors open at 7pm, curtain-up 7.45pm.

ELTHAM is getting ready for its big annual switch-on.

The festive lights will turn the town into a dazzling paradise on Thursday, November 19, when the town centre will be filled with lanterns, costumes, dance, street theatre and floats between 4 and 8pm.

It is the sixteenth year in a row the council has funded the popular free event. It is all part of the council's commitment to support local businesses and encourage residents to support their local shops throughout the busy Christmas shopping period.

Eltham's shops such as Marks and Spencer, JD Sports, Peacocks and Next will stay open for late-night shopping, with special offers for people using their Greenwich One Card (Greenwich Card).

Eltham Lights Up starts with entertainment on the main stage, which this year will be based in Passey Place. It will include local acts such as 'All the Arts' and the Hulviz Amateur Musical Society. The Mayor of Royal Greenwich, Cllr Norman Adams, will join Eltham MP, Clive Efford, to switch on the Christmas lights at 6pm. This will be followed by a lantern parade by local schoolchildren. This year it will be themed around the UNESCO Year of Light celebrations. Cllr Miranda Williams, the council's cabinet member for culture and creative industries, said: "Eltham Lights Up is a much-loved event which offers something for all the family. Thousands of people turn out every year and get into the Christmas spirit

The perfect foil

by Dan Stephens

GREENWICH Fencer Jonathan 'JJ' Webb continues to compete on the world stage and build-up to his dream of taking home gold at the 2020 Olympic Games.

A fantastic recent showing in the sport's Junior World Cup has highlighted his rapid progress, and further underlines the importance of Greenwich Starting Blocks - which continues to back JJ to the hilt.

Greenwich Starting Blocks is a trust which supports aspiring athletes by providing bursaries to cover the costs of training and competing. The Trust has backed Olympic silver medallist Gemma Gibbons, as well as Commonwealth gold medallists Zoe Smith and Tosin Oke, and currently supports 78 young athletes.

Last month JJ competed in the Junior World Cup at Sosnowiec in Poland, securing an impressive 14th place finish out of a field of 126. His progress in the tournament was only halted when he lost by the narrowest of margins against the tournament top seed and world number 4 fencer.

The points gained will almost certainly put JJ into the top 30 of the world junior rankings and it also means he is currently ranked number one in the British Junior rankings and fourth in the seniors.

Nineteen-year-old JJ has been supported by Starting Blocks since he was 13. He told GT: "For the past two years I have been competing both at junior and senior international level. This has meant I have needed to double the amount of kit required to compete and train.

"With the support of Starting Blocks I have not had the added worry of finding the funds for my kit which is quite expensive. This leaves me free to

This month Starting Blocks hosts its annual fundraising gala dinner this month and features Steve Davis OBE and Sky Sports presenter and former Olympic gymnast Jacqui Beltrao as special guests.
